Shih Chien University's Plan to Roll out Bilingual Education and Taiwan Huayu BEST Programs

EMI Office

With the aim of promoting English Medium Instruction (EMI) in the country's higher education sector and enhancing its competitive edge globally, the Executive Yuan is launching the Blueprint for Developing Taiwan into a Bilingual Nation by 2030. The goal is to strengthen the younger generation's English communication skills in their fields of study and improve their competitive advantage in the world. Therefore, the Ministry of Education is actively implementing the bilingual education and Taiwan Huayu BEST (Bilingual Exchanges of Selected Talent) programs to ensure students receive bilingual education in higher education and encourage more students in other countries to learn Mandarin in Taiwan. The effort to create a bilingual learning environment will enhance the competitive edge of Taiwan's younger generation and create better job opportunities and wages for our future generation.

Under the guidance of the national development policy, Shih Chien University has spared no effort to recruit international students and implement EMI. Over the past decade, we have set up student exchange programs with 255 sister universities from more than 40 countries across five continents, offering overseas study opportunities more than 2,000 times and accommodating nearly 5,000 international students and over 3,000 students who came to Taiwan to learn Mandarin. The university has received grants for international exchange programs from the Ministry of Education and has been selected by Global Views Monthly as one of the top ten most international universities in Taiwan and one of the top three private universities. Our top-notch global learning environment is the reason Shih Chien has been selected by the Ministry of Education to participate in the Bilingual Education in Higher Education Program and Taiwan Huayu BEST Program, both of which are part of the Bilingual Taiwan 2030 policy. The participation in the national program will lay a solid foundation as we aim to implement international education in the next stage.

Currently, Shih Chien University has the following plans in place: 1. Nurture EMI teachers: In collaboration with Studio Classroom, we will organize an EMI teacher training course and send selected participants to sister universities in English-speaking countries to take part in EMI teacher training. 2. Train EMI teaching assistants: Invite experienced educators to offer courses on training EMI teaching assistants for students who are interested in the field. This will also give us a head start in implementing international education in the future. 3. Partner with a U.S. university to offer Mandarin Chinese courses: Starting from 2022, Shih Chien University will collaborate with Juniata College, our sister university in the U.S. Shih Chien University will send teachers to Juniata College to teach Mandarin and organize Taiwan Cultural Week to encourage more students in the U.S. to learn Mandarin with us. 4. Set up Mandarin scholarships: Provide volunteering or teaching internship opportunities for U.S. students who are learning Mandarin in Taiwan. We also join hands with elementary and secondary schools to provide more opportunities for students to learn English.

Globalization and a decline in replacement fertility rates are issues that higher education around the world will continue to tackle. Shih Chien University strives to enhance the quality of our international education and recruit international students. Looking forward, the measures we plan to put in place include increasing the number of courses taught in English, developing an EMI support system, recruiting more international teaching staff and establishing an all-English learning environment. Our aim is to enhance English language skills using a student-centered method and ultimately improve our students' competitive edge internationally and in the job market. Shih Chien University will collaborate with Studio Classroom to roll out EMI and Taiwan Huayu Best programs to enhance the quality of our international education and attract more international students to study in Taiwan.
